AMUSEMENTS. Grand-"Pudd'nhead Wilson." A sealskin and overcoat temperature could not spoil the acting of an excellent company nor the enthusiasm of a fairly large and discr minating audience at the Grand last night. If possible the presentation of Frank Mayo's dramatization of "Pudd'nhead Wilson" is better presented. taken as a whole, than it was last year. It does not seem to be acting-it seems to be life. The painstaking attention to detail, both in the company's work and in the stage setting, is refreshing. If Frank Mayo could have selected his successor as Pudd'nhead he would have chosen Mr. Theodore Hamilton, whose performance surveyor and not by contract."

The bill introduced in the House by Pepresentalast night was artistic and impressive. The character is a difficult task; it requires not alone art, but personality and a certain flavor of natural inborn appreciation of humor in the impersonator. It was additionally difficult to follow Frank Mayo in the role. But Mr. Hamilton does it successfully. He instantly overcomes the half-resent ment with which the audience sees any one try to take Mayo's place and before the first act is half through is firmly intrenched in the affections of those across the footlights. Miss Emily Rigi lacks the rich, melodious negro laugh of Miss Eleanor Morreth, seen here last year as Roxy, nor has she the perfect dialect of the original Roxy. She fell short, too, in the pas-

The surprises, nerve-trying scenes and explosive climaxes in this heart-stirring production went with just as much vigor last night as when the one-time famous play was first produced. There was vigor both on the stage and in the audience. It was both good-natured and necessary, for those in the house sat far apart, and for the sake of good health and pieasure beat their hands at the least provocation. Finally some one suggested that they all get down close together and tell their right names. which motion was passed without a suspension of the rules on the part the coterio of legislators present, and soon there was much merriment and appreciation as if it were balmy Christmas weather and the house were packed. English's fared no worse than the other theaters in the respect of attendance last night, pleasure of being rolled in blankets hunting a warm corner about the kitchen fire was clearly more fascinating than braving the arctic temperature of a night ride in the only street cars in the country not provided with stoves. "Darkest Russia" has a large cast and a goodly number of old school actors, who know now to curl their r's and give the proper 'odds death" emphasis to the lines of melodrama. There are scenes in this play to tickle the palate of the galary whistlers as few other dramas of this class can. Its days are about numbered in this world and those who have never witnessed it may do so at one of the remaining three perform-

Park-"Isham's Octoroons."

There is all sorts of fun, music and entertainment generally in the bill offered this week at the Park by John W. Isham's Ocoroons. The first thing the Octoroons appear in is a piece called "The Blackville Derby," a burlesque on racing plays. It is cleverly done and the music is a prominent feature. "Shorty" May and Irving Jones furnish most of the fun. In the olio appear Madah Hyer, the Mallory Brothers, Tommy Carter, in his "pawnbroker shop" songs; Irving and Sadle Jones in a sketch that keeps the audience rearing, and "Shorty" May, in a dance that gets three and four encores every performance. There is a Spanish ballet in the olio that is pretty and pleasing, and a gavotte and ensemble by twelve girls who sing and dance well. The concluding haif-hour of the performance is devoted to scenes from comic and These introduce Mme. Flower, the Hyer sisters, Fred J. At the close of the regular performance a cakewalk was given, exclusively participated in by home talent. The com-petition was decided by three judges chosen from the audience, who awarded the prizes, a pair of silk umbrellas, to the couple bear-ing number "three," despite the shouts of the audience for "number two." The usual matinees will be given to-day and to-mor-row. A benefit for the Colored Extrava-ganza Company, of this city, follows on Thursday, continuing through the week.

Margaret Mather Did Not Open. NEW YORK, Jan. 25 .- For lack of a leading man the production of "Cymbeline," which was to bring Margaret Mather back to the metropolitan stage after an absence of nearly four years, did not take place at Wallack's to-night, and Eugene Presdy, the stage manager, dismissed the audience with the announcement that the play had been postponed. E. J. Henly, who was cast for the role of Iachimo in "Cymbeline," was arrested at 7:30 o'clock on the complaint of Mrs. Hoffman Martin, who got a warrant for the arrest of Henley on a charge of larceny of $50. Mrs. Hoffman Martin, it is said, engaged Mr. Henley to play in "Adele," and after several rehearsals, Mr. Henley borrowed $50 from her. As a result of some misunderstanding, she claims, the money was not paid back. Up to midnight friends of Henley had been unable to secure a police magistrate to secure bail

BOXING CONTESTS.

Everhardt and Matthews Fight Fifteen Rounds to a Draw.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 .- Jack Everhardt, of New Orleans, and Matt Matthews, of Brooklyn, fought a fifteen-round draw at the Union Park Athletic Club to-night. Matthews had a longer reach, but Jack was decidedly the heavier by five or seven pounds. There was a good deal of bickering between the two men and their attendants owing to the fact that they were billed for twenty rounds when the articles only called for fifteen. It was finally agreed only to go the shorter distance. Jack's left hand was injured in the seventh round, and he saved it during the remainder of the fight.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., Jan. 25.-James Dillon, stockdealer who does business in the neigh borhood of Van Buren and Warren, met the other day a man, who gave his name as Morris James, and who proposed to sell two sheep to Dillon. The latter bought them for $5, and gave a check on the Marion Bank. On the back of the check he wrote "paid for two sheep." James disappeared, but since then a check for $500 payable to him and signed by Dillon has been presented to the bank at Warren and paid. It was forwarded to the Marion Bank and accepted. The check had simply been raised from $5 to $500, but still bore the inscription, "paid for two sheep." Somebody has paid an enormous price for mutton, but whether it will ultimately prove to be Dillon or one of the banks is a question that has not yet been determined. CARRIED OFF THE ORGAN. Union Sunday School Secedes from the U. B. Church.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BRAZIL, Ind., Jan. 25 .- The Union Sunday school at Newburg left the United Brethren Church yesterday, taking away the furniture. Sometime ago a new church was erected by a general subscription fund raised principally in Newburg. The building was deeded to the United Brethren notwithstanding those interested in the Union Sunday school contributed freely to its construction. Until recently things went well between the two religious organizations. A faw Sundays ago Rev. Mater, paster of the United Brethren Church, appointed officers ceeded to elect officers of their own. This caused the United Brethren officials to order the Union Sunday school from holding services in their building. The order was read Sunday afternoon during a session of the Union Sunday school and intense excitement prevailed, which resulted in two young women taking the church banner from the wall and leaving the church. Willing hands carried out the organ and several other pieces of furniture and the Sunday school marched to the public school building, where services were held. As the congregation marched in line in the principal street behind the church banner en route to the schoolhouse great excitement prevailed and the Sunday school was augmented at every corner by sympathizers joining in the parade. Members of the United Brethren declare they will replevin the property. Leaders of the Union Sunday school claim they will go into court to test the right of the church.

Destitution and Suffering in St. Louis and Elsewhere-Woman Frozen. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 25.-Captain Joyce, commanding the Fourth district, in which the poor of St. Louis live, reports widespread destitution and suffering. He expresses the opinion "that if this cold weather continues for any length of time there will be many deaths among the poor people living in that quarter of the city, and the rate of mortality from hunger, cold and exposure will be the heaviest ever known in the history of St. Louis." The river business was at a standstill to-day on | Caire, Ill. account of the cold weather. The river is filled with floating ice and rivermen predict that in a few days the river will be closed. With the advent of the ice boats in the harbor were sent down the river to points of shelter, and steamers on their way here were wired to put up. The ice seriously injured.

YORK, Jan. 25 .- The threatening antics of the weather for some time past culminated to-day in the most severe cold throughout the State of New York experienced this season. In New York city the mercury got down to the record point of the year, and in the upper part of the State it succeeded in disappearing almost entirely. Reports from Canada indicate an even more vigorous condition of affairs. but it was in the large cities of this State that the direful effects of the cold wave were the most painfully apparent. weather is promised, and to-morrow, it is prophesied, will break another record. At 7 a. m. to-day the thermometer registered just 5 degrees, and at that time th wind was blowing about twenty miles an hour. Along the coast the gale was o more furious nature, and vessels that arrived over the bar came with their decks well loaded down with ice and their masts covered with the frozen masses of water.
Only once before this year did the mercury descend as low in the tube, and on that occasion it was a "dead frost."
Throughout the city all outdoor operations were suspended, and the cold had an additional descent and the cold had an additional descen ment to Amanda Wade. BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 25 .- The stiff north wester which has been blowing over New England since yesterday, and which has dragged with it a moderate cold wave, is unabated to-night, but there has been no further drop in the temperature since noon, the thermometer registering 14 degrees above zero at 9 p. m. in this city. The high wind, however, has made the cold more severe, especially in exposed places, and along the coast, and all incoming steamers and sailing vessels have been well iced up. Along Cape Cod, especially off Chatham, the coasters have had a hard time all day, and to-night a large fleet is ing the period which immediately preceded | seeking shelter inside Chatham bar. Nantucket reported a gale all day, with a minimum temperature of 16 degrees above zero at 8 o'clock to-night, and the harbor is blocked with ice. In northern New Engthe stud farms being closed by the Russian land, however, the temperature has been low all day, averaging zero or a few de-grees below, and the mercury shows signs of a still further drop before morning.

Suffering at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 25 .- The cold wave which struck this section of the country on Saturday night continued to-day and all alarm for the safety of the ice crop has vanished. The suffering of the poor, the homeless and thinly clad is bitter.
